Hail To Youth

At a time of turmoil. At a time, when America focused its attention on so-called youthful malcontents, when peaceful protesting was being performed throughout the country, here in Andover a group of over 100 high school students were presenting a brilliant performance of the play, "George M."

Presentations of this sort are generally subject to newspaper review.

This, however, is not a review — it is a commendation.

The production of "George M." by the students of Andover High school last weekend was a tribute to the performers, on-stage and back stage and to the director, Edward Grigoli, director of the music department of the Andover public schools.

Although put into rehearsal several months ago, the actual production could not have come at a more opportune time.

As we all are aware, campus unrest stirred this nation last week and continues even today.

The production of "George M." dealt with the life and times of George M. Cohan. Cohan, a famed American composer, is one of few song writers to receive Congressional and Presidential recognition for his writings and his patriotism.

Douglas Hamilton most aptly portrayed the lead and his associate performers most certainly brought forth the life and times of Cohan.

Coming as it did, at the particular time, brought a new light on Andover's youth. Considerable time and effort were involved in the production.

The adult audience, along with young, joined in resounding applause to one particular production number, the singing of "You're A Grand Old Flag."

It was a signal that America still lives, and that young and old still share a common concern.

Our whole-hearted commendation to all those involved in the production of "George M." a most memorable performance.

No Cleanup This Year

Due to an increased work load placed on personnel in the public works department, there will be no cleanup week this year.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin reported this week that activities such as street work and related duties makes it virtually impossible to conduct the annual spring pickup this year.

Austin also noted that the miles of streets which must be covered by the street sweeper makes it impossible for the machine to return to particular areas.

The manager pointed out that the piles of leaves raked into gutters and curbstones may not be picked up for several days, since the sweeper after passing one particular area, may not return to that section for several days.

He feels all residents of the community are entitled to the service of the sweeper, but there is only the single machine and only so many hours in the day, thus the limitation.

Safety Center Set To Open By June

The Public Safety Center on North Main street is now substantially complete and plans for moving in are underway.

But traffic lights to control vehicles on North Main street as emergency vehicles enter the thoroughfare, will not be installed until possibly the fall.

"Gadzooks," was the reaction of Freshman Selectman George E. Heseltine Monday night when he heard that the lights would not be installed and ready when the building is occupied.

Heseltine questioned why this matter had not been looked into before.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin had reported to the selectmen that the state department of public works is scheduling a survey of Main street, including the locale of the safety center, to establish the need for installation of traffic control signals.

He said that lights for the safety center, under present arrangements, would probably not be installed until the fall.

Selectman Sidney P. White told Heseltine that the delay was apparently caused due to the interim period between the change of administration.

Heseltine said he felt the matter was a serious oversight particularly in view of the heavy traffic on North Main street and the necessity of fire apparatus, police cars and ambulance having to make emergency entry onto the street.

When the lights are installed traffic controls will be available to the public safety units for in front of the building as well as in Elm Square.

For safety reasons, the selectmen Monday night eliminated parking on both sides of Main street from Lewis street to Essex street.

The building committee reported to the manager last week that the safety center was substantially complete and the selectmen Monday night accepted the structure under those circumstances.

Town Manager Austin is now tracing down the whereabouts of about a half-dozen desks ordered for the building. As soon as they are found and delivery date given, plans will be made to move the police department to its new quarters.

Full occupancy of the building is expected by June, according to the manager.

With the move of the fire department from the Central station to new quarters, it is anticipated that plans will proceed for the demolition of the station on Park street.

Funds were provided for the demolition and paving of the area at the annual town meeting.

Reichhold To Cure Pollution Problem

The Reichhold Chemical Company has been notified by the Division of Water Resources that it is discharging inadequately treated wastes into the waters of the Shawsheen River, in contravention of the standards of the Clean Waters Act of 1966.

The state has given the local company a timetable to provide pretreatment of its industrial wastes, and connection with the town sewer for their disposal, by October, 1971.

State officials emphasized that Reichhold's pollution was inadvertent, rather than a deliberate discharge of industrial wastes, and said the company had immediately acknowledged responsibility and was proving "exceedingly cooperative, compared with most companies we have to deal with."

State action followed the regional Water Pollution Control officials investigation of a complaint from an Andover resident, who owns riverfront land adjacent to and

Volunteers Aiding TV Auction

Momentum is building for the hundreds of "go-getters" who are canvassing the area for the 1970 Channel Two Auction which gets underway within a few weeks on Saturday, May 30. The area chairmen and their teams have been soliciting local merchants, industries and individuals for the thousands of contributed items that are annually auctioned off during the Channel Two Auction, one of the country's outstanding fund-raising events.

This year, more than 3000 volunteers from all parts of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and parts of Rhode Island and Connecticut are participating in the preliminary activities and production responsibilities for the eight day Auction.

In the past four years, the Channel Two auctions have generated over one million dollars for WGBH's unrestricted operating funds.

Area chairman is Mrs. Michael King, North Andover.

Team members are: Mrs. Francis Jackson, Mrs. Isaac Northrop, Mrs. Morgan K. Smith, Jr., Mrs. William Finneran, Mrs. Fessenden Wilder, Mrs. Alan Burbank, Mrs. Leo Constantineau, and Mrs. Horace Stevens.

Gillette Earnings Are Higher

Consolidated net income for The Gillette Company, which maintains its Toiletries Division on Burt Road in Andover, in the three months ended March 31, 1970 rose slightly to $17,200,000, equal to 59 cents per share, from $16,987,000, or 58 cents per share in the same period of 1969.

Sales in the quarter rose 9 percent to $162,494,000 from $149,395,000 a year earlier.

"International sales and earnings posted good gains in the quarter. While total domestic sales moved ahead of last year's first quarter, higher overall operating costs resulting from current economic factors held domestic first quarter earnings below those of the prior year," president Ziegler said.

"Gillette's Platinum-Plus blade, launched late last year, is already the second largest selling double-edge blade in the U. S. marketplace behind our own Gillette Super Stainless," he said. "The new blade is also doing well in overseas markets, and so is the Techmatic Razor Band shaving system," he added.

The board of directors of The Gillette Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share on the common stock of the company, payable June 5, 1970 to stockholders of record May 1, 1970.

The Gillette Company is the leading maker of razors and blades, and produces men's and women's grooming products, small appliances and writing instruments.

It's Apple Blossom Time

Apple blossom time in Massachusetts begins this week according to the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture. Full bloom is expected over the weekend -- May 16-17 -- and should still remain in all its glory through May 23. Areas for best viewing are Concord, Ayer, Acton and Groton.

Outdoor spring crops from local growers, now on the market, are asparagus, rhubarb, scallions, dandelions and spinach. The greenhouse cucumber crop continues heavy, and most reasonably priced, with only a few cents difference between the unwaxed natives and shipped-in, preserved varieties. All rate Best Buy status this week.

LIKE FLOWER PETALS, foam surfboards fan out in the Industrial Arts department, where these high school students fashioned them out of fiberglass and polyester foam.

Career Planning Introduced

A new concept in college and career planning has been introduced to college bound sophomores and juniors at Phillips Academy and Andover High school.

Developed by the Princeton Institute for Educational and Career Research, FOCUS is a continuous guidance program designed to help students make intelligent decisions about their future. The Institute was founded by former admission directors at Princeton University who believe that college bound students can effectively plan their future development if given proper guidelines and motivation. Toward this end, FOCUS supplements the guidance counselor's function by providing students with a logical, systematic approach to college and career choice.

The FOCUS pilot program includes 1,100 schools in its national sample. Students may subscribe to this service as early as sophomore year and can continue in the FOCUS program until they finish college. College selection is emphasized in the first planning kits but students are also introduced to broad career concepts at that time.

To take career planning out of the realm of broad generalities into the area of specific facts a selected group of major companies and professional associations have prepared special reports on their career fields. In the field of business management, Johnson and Johnson, Montgomery Ward, and Proctor and Gamble have been chosen to give the facts on sales, merchandising and finance as careers. Honeywell, Monsanto, and U.S. Steel have provided insight into the potentials science, engineering and computers offer. There is also information on various professions as reported by the American Medical Association, the American Bar Association, and the National Education Association. This line of communication is maintained via the quarterly newsletter, FOCUS FACTS, as the student continues through college.

FOCUS is financed by participating foundations and corporations. The only expense for this ongoing service to students is a motivational charge of $2.00 for postage handling, and registration with the Institute.

Have you ever tried stewed rhubarb as a topping on ice cream? Try this: Stewed Rhubarb Sauce: Cut 2 lbs. rhubarb stalks into 1/2 in. pieces. If tender and colorful, you do not need to peel it -- its skin gives a decorative pink color. Place in pan containing 1 in. of water. Cover tightly and simmer about 45 min. Remove cover and cook until most of the water is evaporated. Sweeten with 1 cup sugar. You may add cinnamon, 1 tsp. lemon or orange juice to taste. Makes about 3 cups.

Merrimack Students Commended

Students at Merrimack College were commended on May 10 by Very Rev. John R. Aherne for sensible, orderly and effective conduct during collegiate protests against Cambodian involvement and for the meaningful memorial programs for the four students who were tragically killed at Kent State University.

"Since Tuesday, May 5, members of the administration and faculty have maintained close communication with students participating in the programs and the results are encouraging," the Merrimack president said. The sensible and orderly conduct of the participating students reflects credit on the entire student body.

"It is important to note that students worked in accord with campus rules governing such emergency situations and within the structure of the student government," he said. "Throughout the activity the rights of all were respected," he noted pointing out that classes were conducted throughout the four days of activity.

Students in a referendum in which some 1277 of the 1840 students participated voted 56.3 to 43.3 percent to return to class on Monday. On the basis of this action, it will be back to business of their education for all students on Monday.

Dr. Aherne said that students who participated in the programs will not be penalized for class absences during the period of the strike sanctioned by the College's Student Government Association. "All will be expected to comply with results of the back to class SGA voted with the beginning of the new academic week," he said.

A person who voluntarily quits his job usually is not eligible to draw unemployment benefits. However, if it can be shown that he quit for just cause, benefits may be permitted.

HONORED. District Director William E. Williams of the Internal Revenue Service, congratulates Frank J. O'Connor of Andover on receiving the High Quality Increase award at recent ceremonies in the John F. Kennedy building, Boston.

AVIS Plans Cleanup Of River

The Andover Village Improvement Society is looking for all the citizen participation it can get for Shawsheen River Cleanup Day on Sunday, which will begin with a 10-12 o'clock cleanup of the upper river.

Bring boots, rakes, burlap bags, pickup trucks or boats if you have them, and don't forget your sandwiches, cleanup chairman Nat Smith urges.

Families and individuals can meet at either the Ballardvale Dam or the Horn Bridge at 10 a.m. for the upper river cleanup, working their way up or down the riverbanks for a clean sweep between these points.

Picnic lunchtime will be from 12-1 at the AVIS property by the Horn Bridge, and Town Manager J. Maynard Austin has been invited as a special guest.

The lower river cleanup will run from 1-3 p.m. Smith said citizens can begin at the Horn Bridge, or at the bridge on Essex Street. AVIS hopes for lots of whole-day participants, but half a day is better than none, and no one should hesitate to come for the picnic lunch and the afternoon cleanup, which will need many hands.

Fossils of the whooping crane, found in Idaho, date from 3,500,000 years ago; fossils of the trumpeter swan in Oregon are about 300,000 years old, and the earliest remains of the California condor, dating from 200,000 years ago, come from Florida.

High Award Presented

Frank J. O'Connor, of 110 Chestnut St., a career employee of the Internal Revenue Service, has been honored with a High Quality Increase award, one of the highest honors given Federal employees.

Chief of the Audit Division in the Massachusetts IRS District, Mr. O'Connor received the honor from District Director William E. Williams who presented him with a certificate in recognition of his outstanding ability and leadership.

The holder of several such Federal awards, he is a graduate of Benjamin Franklin University.

He and his wife, Alice, and four of their five children live at the Andover address, while another daughter, Mary, is married and resides in New York.

downstream from Reichhold property.

Water Pollution Control engineers found that the "red odorous compound" seeping up to the surface of adjacent land, and also seeping down into the Shawshen River from the riverbank on Reichhold's property was the same phenol wash compound which Reichhold uses in its industrial processes, then pipes across the Shawshen River for disposal in three shallow pits on Reichhold riverside land there.

Robert Cady, assistant sanitary engineer at the Northeast regional Water Pollution Control Division office, who completed the pollution report, said that the pits, or "lagoons," were designed as leaching fields for the filtering and degrading of the industrial wastes. Ordinarily they could be expected to do the job, Cady said, but seepage downward has been blocked -- probably by an impermeable layer. Instead of seeping further down, the industrial wastes are seeping sideways onto land and through the riverbank into the waters of the Shawshen River.

Reichhold officials received the pollution notification from Thomas McMahaon, director of the Division of Water Pollution Control on May 4, with a timetable calling for engagement of a professional engineer by May 30. The timetable calls for filing of preliminary plans by July, final plans by October of this year, a construction start by January, 1971, and completion by October, 1971.

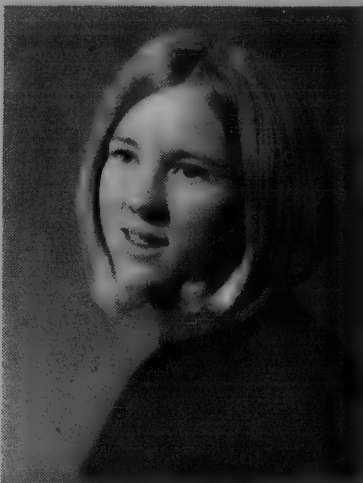

The pretreatment facilities required will detoxify the industrial wastes before they are piped into the town sewer at Gillette, according to Cady.

Cady and the Regional Engineer, Donald S. Pottle, emphasized that they were "very happy with Reichhold's response" to their findings, and Mrs. Elizabeth Nadeau of the Board of Public Health corroborated Reichhold Manager Wooten's statement that Reichhold which has 30 plants in different parts of the country, has operated in close cooperation and with full approval of regulatory agencies here, and that instances of accidents or human error have always been promptly and voluntarily reported to the proper authorities.

"Recently indications appeared for the first time to indicate that our present disposal system would not be adequate for the years ahead," the Reichhold manager told the TOWNSMAN. "Given the choice of modifying the existing lagoon system or going to the new sewer, the choice was obvious. Engineering consultants have been retained, equipment is on order and we expect a smooth orderly transition."

Water Pollution Control officials notified Andover town officials of their pollution findings, against Reichhold, but the matter comes to public notice through the state's response to the inquiries of a private citizen who is a member of the Andover Village Improvement Society. This conservation group has long been concerned with pollution of the Shawshen River, and students in the Joint Ecological Action Committee recently have matched their interest, and begun lab tests of the river waters.

An Awakening

Something happened in Andover and across our nation last week.

Youthful protestors made known their feelings about expansion of the Vietnam war and also the deaths of four students at Kent State University.

To the responsible youths, who were aware of what they were demonstrating for, we think, President Nixon has given them answers.

This, is possibly the answer to a problem country at the moment.

Much has been said and mentioned about the 'generation gap.'

It may or may not exist.

What has existed, however, and most blatantly, is a communication gap, which may have through the responsible, youthful, peaceful protestors, been bridged by their actions of the past several days.

We do not condone the defiance of law and order.

We do not sympathize with the followers of the Jerry Ruben types.

We do not approve of forced college closings.

We feel that possibly the young people did defy authority in some of their actions.

But in so doing, they awakened America.

The responsible ones, those who knew what they were protesting, are the ones we refer to.

These are the young people who wanted to know "Why?"

They wanted answers, as did adults.

The answers were given by President Nixon — a concerned individual, the leader of our nation, last weekend.

None of us want war.

We can think of no one who actually condones the taking of human life.

Vietnam and Cambodia are about the most unpleasant chapters of American history.

What has happened in our country is also a darkened page of our heritage.

But America's youth were restless — the responsible ones.

They wanted answers.

America's future is entrusted to its youth.

If through the action of the responsible young people, the communication gap was bridged this past week, then, indeed, America will continue to be a great nation.

The Lights

Installation of traffic lights in front of the public safety center was the subject of serious consideration by the selectmen this week.

The lights will not be installed until the fall at the earliest.

The public safety units, police and fire departments, are expected to occupy the building by June.

The failure to have the lights ready for use by the time of occupancy would appear to be a serious oversight.

The responsibility can not be readily placed.

Emergency vehicles will be entering a heavily travelled thoroughfare. Police, fire and ambulance responses must be made quickly in time of emergency.

The location of the public safety center, is at best, difficult, due to the incline as well as the heavy traffic.

That traffic lights will not be available at the time the building opens presents definite hazards.

We would hope that surveys and installation of stop and go sequence lights for the area can be expedited as quickly as possible.

School Use

The school department has opened its buildings to public use during non-school hours.

The various programs conducted in the buildings have been successful and well attended.

Now, the time comes when the selectmen and school committee as policy making boards, must decide on a future course.

It is currently under study by both groups.

Making the utmost use of public buildings, for which taxpayers spend millions of dollars, seems to be a most sensible course.

Proper administration will be needed and supervised programs conducted, as they have been, for young and adult alike.

Where the responsibility will lie for the future conduct of the programs and use of the buildings, must now be decided.

It does involve budgetary considerations.

Serious study by the selectmen and school committee is advocated, particularly in view of the harmony which has resulted in joint meetings of the town's new superintendent of schools and town manager.

Off The Top Of The Desk

The Boston Bruins are of course the heroes of New England, as well as the champions of professional hockey.

When the Bruins scored their overtime victory on Sunday, the TOWNSMAN was there. We were represented by our sports writer, Rick Harrison, who is employed by a metropolitan newspaper, but covers school hockey, basketball and Little League for this paper.

For the past eight weeks Rick has been traveling with the Bruins, covering them throughout their entire Stanley Cup playoffs.

He also did a special feature for the daily newspaper for which he works on the fabulous Bobby Orr, interviewing the superstar at his Lynnfield home.

Rick was part of the post game celebration on Sunday. We hope he brought along a spare suit, since most all in the locker room were dropped in the shower or covered with champagne.

As a parting thought on the conclusion of a great hockey season for Boston, we couldn't help but think that no one on the Bruins could have been more deserving of having scored the winning goal than Bobby Orr.

The young man, at the age of 23, just does everything perfectly.

He credits his teammates, and indeed the Bruins displayed a complete team effort.

But Bobby is something else. Despite his finesse, his outstanding ability, he remains a humble young man.

If it was necessary, as it was, to provide a sudden death goal to win the Stanley Cup, indeed, it was only right that Bobby got the credit.

Enter the era of Bobby.

We imagine that many have noticed that the time of year has arrived for the appearance of jaundiced lawns.

We speak of course of the yellowed appearance of the landscape, due to the presence of the multitude of dandelions, which appear to be more prevalent this year than ever.

While they are pestiferous to some, they are also nutritional to others.

Some people look upon the obtaining of the dandelion leaves, boiled, as a particular delicacy.

So those yellow weeds to some are a glowing welcome to others.

We wish that somehow the beautiful magnolia tree could be endowed with a little ruggedness.

Its beauty blossoms forth each spring in brilliance, yet lasts but a few days.

Any wind of sufficient strength rapidly diminishes the beauty of the tree and it rapidly turns to leaf.

Its brilliance, in full blossom, lasts for such a short time.

Have you had your automobile inspection yet?

There are but a few days left. Registrar of Motor Vehicles has warned that with the many cars still to be inspected, it may prove difficult to meet requirements.

Deadline for obtaining of the inspection sticker is Friday.

Now is the time to start your vegetable garden. It is amazing how much a small garden plot on the home grounds can produce in the way of vegetables for fresh eating and for freezing or canning. Vegetables are easy to grow, and particularly tasty from your own garden.

During April and May, seeds of many vegetables can be planted. And when danger of frost is past in May, tender plants of tomato, pepper, and egg plant can be set out. All that is needed to start your garden is loose soil, fertilizer, and water. As the plants come along, weeding and cultivation will be needed until your vegetables become established.

Homeowners who would like to raise their own vegetables this summer will be interested in the Home Vegetable Garden booklet available on request to Extension Editor, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Hathorne, Mass. 01937.

and they were killed by our national "protectors."

I plead with the people of Andover to examine the incident at Kent State University. Look at the immediate consequences of four American citizens' "rights" and "privileges." Let your opinions and ideas be heard, and direct them where they will be effective. Write to your state representatives. But most important listen to other's when they are trying to be heard.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
I write to you from the midst of a highly rational student strike here at Smith College. The strike is not against the college, but a general reordering of priorities on the part of most faculty and student members. If consideration of the present state of affairs in our country was shelved until students finished their papers and took their final exams, it would be a mockery of the highly touted theory of 'relevant education.' The following is an attempt to explain the purpose of the strike to those who are concerned back home.

The rationale behind the strike at Smith concerns: the recent escalation of the war into Cambodia, the resumption of the bomb-

These issues transcend the limits of partisan political controversy in posing an immediate threat to our most fundamental human values. I sincerely believe we are in a state of immediate crisis, and it's not going to wait until people have time for it.

George M came to Andover just at the right time!

I wish to publicly offer my thanks and appreciation to all the young people and adults responsible for the Andover High school production of George M.

It was very satisfying and encouraging to see so many united in such a happy result. The abundance of talent and "joie de vivre" was a delight.

Everyone engaged in the production has my warm wishes and grateful thanks.

Today I voted to strike with my college classmates and with universities nationwide. Our college is striking in opposition to the tragic events at Kent State University; we strongly feel that four college students aren't justified to die because they chose to protest the United States' invasion of Cambodia. The Red Sox gained sole possession of first place, the Yankees picked up their first victory, and Bill Alexander of the Twins fired a no-hitter to spark recent action in the Andover American Little League.

The Red Sox were the only undefeated team through games of last Monday. They upped their record to 3-0 with a tight 4-2 triumph over the third-place Tigers.

The Yankees initial win came on a 2-1 upset of the White Sox, while Bill Alexander's no-hitter sparked a 10-0 whitewash of the Indians by the defending Town Champion Twins.

Other games recently saw the Tigers beat the Indians, 9-5, and the Yankees, 5-3. The Twins also beat the White Sox, 7-2, and the White Sox turned around to upend the Tigers, 4-3.

In an incomplete game still in the top of the seventh inning, the Red Sox are ahead of the Indians, 7-3. The game will be concluded May 28.

Tigers 9 - Indians 5 -- Bob Hannon was the winning pitcher for the Tigers, tossing a fine four-hitter and fanning 13 batters. Mike Scheinfeld was the starting and losing hurler for the Indians.

Hot-hitting Bob MacMackin continued to sting the ball with three hits, including a long double and two singles. Danny LaPointe chipped in with a pair of singles for the Tigers, and Hannon also laced a key safety to help his own cause.

Twins 7 - White Sox 2 -- Left-hander Glenn Verrette of the Twins evened his record at 1-1 by firing a two-hitter at the White Sox.

He also whiffed nine hitters along the six-inning route.

Lefty Rhett Mundy drilled a double and single to spark the winners' offense, and Jerry Stabile kept up his heavy hitting by rapping out a brace of base hits.

Mark Hamilton belted a three-bagger, and Tom Henderson had a single, for the only two White Sox safeties.

Red Sox 4 - Tigers 2 -- Both of these clubs were undefeated when they clashed for the first time this season.

Ken Loffredo picked up his second pitching triumph of the year for the Red Sox, spinning a nifty two-hitter, striking out 12 and walking five Tigers.

Losing hurler Kurt Anderson was almost as effective for the Tigers, fashioning a two-hitter while fanning nine Red Sox men. The Sox pulled out to a 4-0 lead in the third inning, and then held on as the Tigers scored once in the bottom of the third and again in the sixth.

Both Red Sox hits were doubles. Loffredo helped his own cause with a two-bagger good for two RBIs, while Billy Martin also slugged a double.

Brian LaPointe had a double and single for both Tiger safeties, while Ray Rau and Danny LaPointe scored the losers' runs.

Twins 10 - Indians 0 -- Bill Alexander tossed the first no-hitter of the year for the Twins. The pitching gem came on the heels of a one-hitter he fired in his opening effort. He fanned nine batters.

Bill also slammed a triple to help himself, while Rhett Mundy clubbed two hits for three RBIs, and Glenn Verrette laced a long double for the Twins.

Glenn Verrette was also a defensive stickout at first base for the winners, while Gerry Cox made some sparkling defensive plays for the Indians.

Tigers 5 - Yankees 3 -- Bob Hannon picked up another victory for the Tigers, tossing a five-hitter and striking out 12 Yankee batters. He also had his second perfect day at the plate, spanking out three hits in three trips.

The key blow for the winners was supplied by Kurt Anderson, who unloaded a three-run homer.

Thom Lawler hurled a good game in a losing cause for the Yanks, and Kenny LaFleur was the big sticker with a perfect 2-for-2 at the plate.

Red Sox 7 - Indians 3 -- This game is in extra innings, and will be finished May 28 when the Indians and Red Sox meet again. The score was tied 3-3 after the regulation six innings, but the Red Sox scored four runs in the top of the seventh before darkness halted the action.

When play resumes, the Red Sox will be at bat. They'll have runners on second and third with two outs, and two strikes to batter Richard Rosetti.

Yankees 2 - White Sox 1 -- Jay Doherty hurled the Yankees to their first victory. He pitched a four-hitter and whiffed 10 batters.

The deciding run scored on a passed ball in the final inning. Ken LaFleur, Darryl Gustafson, Thom Lawler and Doherty had the key hits for the winners.

Timmy Brownlie cracked a double for the White Sox, while Mark Hamilton lined two singles and Dave Mirisola also had a bingle.

Scott Collins was a hard-luck loser on the mound, twirling a four-hitter and striking out 10 batters also.

White Sox 4 - Tigers 3 -- Chris Crampton was a two-way star for the White Sox. He hurled the win and fanned nine batters, then doubled and crossed the plate with the winning run in the fifth inning.

Brian Flannery's single accounted for the deciding RBI, while Mark Hamilton and Dave Mirisola also had singles for the Sox.

Kurt Anderson absorbed the loss, firing a five-hitter and whiffing 12 batters. Bob Hannon and Bob MacMackin paced the Tigers' eight-hit attack with a pair of safeties apiece.

This week -- One big game, last night after TOWNSMAN press-time, had the Twins and Red Sox clashing with first place at stake. The remainder of the schedule is: Tonight -- Tigers vs. Indians; Friday -- Red Sox vs. White Sox; Saturday -- Twins vs. Yankees; Monday -- Indians vs. White Sox; Tuesday -- Red Sox vs. Yankees; Wednesday -- Twins vs. Tigers. All games at South School field.

Pitching star of the week -- Bill Alexander.

Hitting stars of the week -- Kurt Anderson, Ken Loffredo, Rhett Mundy.

Minor League

The Yankees continued to provide one of the best defenses in the league giving up just 5 runs per game last week and about 6 runs per game overall in the season. That performance has brought the Yankees from last place in the first week to sixth place in the third week.

Standings through May 11 are:

READY FOR TAKEOFF? No, that's not Orville and Wilbur learning to fly; it's Andover High students setting up a new large TV antenna on the high school roof. Thanks to Electronic teacher Edwin Hawkes' do it yourself team, the high school now has 40 antenna hookups for clear reception.

Orientation Program Set

According to William J. Igoe, director of guidance of the Andover public schools, an orientation program will be conducted throughout all the Andover Elementary and Junior and Senior high schools.

The dates for the orientation program will be Friday, May 15, for the West junior high school and Thursday, May 21 for the East junior high school.

This Friday, the students of the ninth grade classes of the West junior high school will participate in a program at the senior high school which will last for approximately two hours. The program will begin with an assembly at the senior high; a welcoming address will be given by the principal and a guidance counselor will explain the guidance services offered at the senior high school. Students will visit various departments with senior high counselors and students as leaders of the junior high groups. They will have an opportunity to meet with department heads who will explain course offerings with emphasis on sophomore courses.

The purpose of the program is to better inform the student with regard to his physical, academic, and social development. The program is designed to assist the student to make a smoother transition into the senior high school in September.

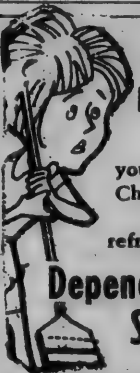

Meanwhile, the sixth grade students of the elementary schools who will be attending West junior high school will meet with school administrators and guidance counselors and representatives of student government, for a special program of orientation and will give the sixth grader an opportunity of meeting teachers and touring the facilities at the junior high.

A similar orientation program will be conducted on Thursday, May 21 with ninth grade students of the East junior high visiting the senior high school. Sixth grade students who will be attending the East junior high will have an opportunity of visiting the school on the same day for a special orientation program being conducted by the building principal, guidance counselors and teachers.

The guidance counselors of both junior high schools will conduct a follow-up program by visiting all sixth grade classes of all elementary schools within two weeks following the orientation program for the purpose of discussing the program of studies, school activities, rules and regulations and guidance services. The follow-up procedure will also allow the counselors to establish better rapport and communication with the sixth grade teachers and provide an opportunity for the guidance counselors at the junior high to provide feed-back information to the elementary administrators and teachers.

Comfortable cotton sleeping bags will be enjoyed by the whole family for camping or big houseparties. Styles come with water-repellent cotton covers and warm liners of cotton flannel. The sleeping bags are treated to resist mildew, and are machine-washable.

Center Organized

A chapter of the National Center of Afro-American Artists, Inc., is being organized in Andover. The center was founded by Elma Lewis in 1968 in Roxbury. The Andover chapter is one of many being formed in the Greater Boston area to provide volunteer help and financial support for the new Center.

The National Center of Afro-American Artists, Inc., is housed in the old Temple Mishka Tefila, Elm Hill Avenue, Roxbury, which was given to Miss Lewis for her Center by the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston. It is a two building cultural complex including the Elma Lewis School of Fine Arts, which offers dancing taught by members of the Talley Beatty Dance Company, music in cooperation with the New England Conservatory, and the complete range of theatre arts. The larger building is to be remodeled into a fully equipped professional theatre with 1400 seats. An Afro-American Museum will be developed on the floor below the theatre in cooperation with the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

The Center will foster and promote knowledge of Afro-American history and culture and will support and develop artistic and cultural expression within the Black Community. It will provide a showcase for Black artistic expression drawn from all over the world. Already, it is the base for

"A Tradition of Excellence"

Your new home must be selected to serve the purposes and functions of family life. There are many features you must check. That vine-covered cottage for two may turn out to be a prison when it's occupied by six. When you look, check out all the features of the new house.

Does it have convenient entries - and enough of them for your family and their activities? Does it have enough garage space and parking facilities? Are the grounds large enough for all your outdoor activities?

Are the rooms so laid out that arrangement of the furniture you have and that you want to get will be logical and attractive? If you entertain a lot, is there space for parties?

These things may seem unimportant, but in every day living they can be the difference between comfort and constant irritation.

Hearing On Air Pollution Scheduled

Public hearings on regulations proposed to maintain a standard of optimum air quality for all communities in the Bay State have been scheduled by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

The announcement was made by Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, commissioner, who said that each of the six designated districts in the Commonwealth will be provided with standards and regulations covering all 351 cities and towns beginning July 1.

A public hearing for proposed regulations affecting Andover as part of the Merrimack Valley will be held at Tewksbury Hospital on May 22 at 10 a.m.

Dr. Frechette said that the regulations, once adopted, will help to attain, preserve, and conserve the highest possible quality of air compatible with the needs of Massachusetts citizens. The Commissioner noted that the setting of regulations is another step in the Department's continuing program developed to clear our air. Dr. Frechette said that the regulations will become more stringent over the next 18 months according to a schedule designed to minimize hardships on people while working constantly toward a cleaner environment.

Hospital Drive Goal Set

Under the chairmanship of George B. Stern the Joint Hospital Building Fund Commerce Advisory Council announced recently that the Commerce Division goal has been set at $170,000.

"The objective represents about 5-1/2 percent of the total campaign goal of $3,000,000. We feel confident that our division, which is comprised of all the retail, wholesale and small business firms in the Greater Lawrence Area, will reach its goal," stated Mr. Stern.

The Commerce Advisory Council, which considered the goal at two luncheon meetings held at the Lawrence General Hospital, included: Milton Abramson, president, Capital Distributing Company; Atty. Howard J. Camuso, Richard Choate, manager, Cherry and Webb; James B. Coffey, vice president, Bay State Merchants National Bank; Mrs. Robert J. Fraser, comptroller, Outward Bound, Inc.; Geoffrey Glendinning, vice president, Arlington Trust Company.

It also included: Joseph V. Ippolito, president, Factory Outlet; Richard A. Kapelson, president, Kap's Men's and Boy's Shop; John F. Murphy, vice president, A. B. Sutherland Company; John N. O'Boyle, president, Travel Anywhere, Inc.; Charles W. Seifert, president, Coca-Cola Bottling Company.

Other members were: Atty. Charles W. Trombly, Joseph A. Torrisi, treasurer, Jackson Lumber Company, Inc.; Daniel Valpey, assistant treasurer, Dalrymple Oil Company; Alexander H. Weiner, treasurer, Weiner Furniture Company; Melvin L. Weiner, corporation clerk, Weiner's Inc.

The committee agreed that the organization should be formed on a community team basis and that a chairman for each town should be appointed as soon as possible. "Mr. Stern is most enthusiastic about the reaction of his committee and expects to have all of his area chairmen meet at the campaign headquarters before the end of the week," said Doctor Milton Meyers, the campaign chairman. A chairman is to be named for Lawrence, Methuen, Salem, New Hampshire, and the Andover-North Andover communities.

The campaign office indicated that 1,558 business prospects are listed. It is expected that personal solicitation will give almost all prospects an opportunity to give by making a pledge over the three-year payment period.

The appeal for support of the Bon Secours and Lawrence General Joint Hospital Building Fund is to enlarge and modernize present facilities at the two institutions. The programs are estimated to cost slightly over $10 million. The fund-raising effort to-date has recorded contributions from more than 1,800 individuals and companies totalling $1,645,878.

Daniel Innes

To Study In France This Summer

The American Field Service of New York has selected Daniel Innes of 17 Canterbury St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Innes, to go to France as part of their summer program.

He will live with a French family in southern France.

Daniel is a junior at Andover High school, is interested in languages and hopes to be a teacher. He assists in teaching English to Spanish and Cuban students in Lawrence.

He was first selected by the Andover chapter of the American Field Service and had a choice of requesting a summer or a full year abroad with a host family.

The AFS attempts to provide greater understanding by providing an opportunity for people of all nationalities to live and study together thus fostering better relations throughout the world.

There is currently one AFS student living with Rev. and Mrs. J. Everett Bodge and studying here, Elessio Pitty.

Miss Denise Drazy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Drazy, returned in January from a year in New Zealand, and is now completing her senior year at Andover High school. Her stay in New Zealand was sponsored by the local chapter of AFS.

Dual Job Holders To Be Surveyed

Information on the number of persons holding more than one job and the total of hours worked at each job will be collected during a survey to be conducted in this area during the week of May 17, according to Mr. James W. Turbitt, Director of the regional office of the Bureau of the Census in Boston.

Local interviews will be part of a nationwide effort to measure dual job holding in the U.S. They will be conducted in conjunction with the Bureau's monthly survey of employment and unemployment. Employment statistics are gathered monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation. Households to be interviewed here are part of a scientifically designed sample of the U.S. population.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Peau d'Ange with a modified Empire waist and a softly shirred skirt. The bodice was trimmed with silk soutache braid and the full-cuffed Bishop sleeves were of sheer silk organza. Her detachable cathedral train was adorned with matching braid trim. A garland of stephanotis and baby's breath held her veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of gladioli.

Miss Diane C. Crossley, sister of the bride was maid of honor; Miss Janice Crossley of Dublin, N.H., cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid; the Misses Marjorie and Elaine J. Crossley, sisters of the bride were junior bridesmaids; Miss Amy L. Crossley, sister of the bride was flower girl.

All attendants were identically gowned in A-line gowns of lavender nylon adorned with multi-colored velour flowers, short puffed sleeves and lavender bowed sashes. They carried bouquets of spring flowers and wore halos of baby's breath in their hair.

P. Richard Aliberti served as best man, and Richard Arcand, Peter Arcand and Thomas Arcand, all brothers of the bridegroom, ushered the guests.

Following a reception at the Andover Inn, the couple left on a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev.

The bride is a graduate of Andover High school and attended the New England School of Art in Boston. She was employed by Tech Services at the Draper Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in Cambridge.

The bridegroom graduated from Lawrence High school and Newman Preparatory school. He is associated with Electro-Circuits in Lowell.

Industry Aids Joint Campaign

"Industry is giving great support to the Joint Hospital Building Fund," according to Walter C. Wilson, Jr., "$326,000 has been pledged so far and we're well on the way to our division goal of $475,000.

"There are about 60 industrial firms still to be heard from and the committee members are hard at work following up initial contacts. The committee hopes to finish up before the Commerce Division starts its solicitation next month."

Wilson is President of the Andrew Wilson Company. He is chairman of the industry division of the Joint Hospital Building Fund. He has been active in the United Fund, the YMCA and other civic concerns.

Parents Day Program At Church

The Andover Armenian Language School conducted by teaching members of the Armenian Relief Society and which has been meeting regularly since October at the Sanborn school on Wednesday evenings will entertain parents and friends on Sunday, May 17, at 3 p.m.

The program will take place in the parish hall of St. Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church on Main St., North Andover (formerly the Methodist Church). Recitations, songs, a skit, and a film depicting activities at the Armenian youth camp in Franklin, will be shown, and homemade refreshments and soft drinks will be served.

Certificates of achievement will be awarded as well as campership awards donated by the Lawrence Chapter of ARS and the Central Executive Branch in Boston for students excellent in their studies who will be able to further their language skills at the Camp as well as learning more about the history and culture of their people. Prospective students for Fall classes will be able to register after the Parent's Day program. All interested individuals are welcome to attend.

Luncheon At Hospital

As part of its celebration of National Hospital Week, the Lawrence General Hospital will act as host for the luncheon meeting of the Greater Lawrence Community Services Associates. This meeting, which is the regular monthly meeting of the Community Service Associates, was held at noon on Wednesday, May 13 in the Kurth Auditorium of the Lawrence General Hospital.

The speaker at the luncheon will be Miss Rosemary Stinson, Associate Campaign Director of the Bon-Secours-Lawrence General Joint Hospital Building Fund. She will speak on the public's support of the $10,000,000 expansion programs of the two hospitals.

"Hospitals exist to serve the sick and the injured and in large part depend on the generous support of the community for their building needs," Miss Stinson has said. "The Greater Lawrence community now has the opportunity to help the Bon Secours and Lawrence General Hospitals enlarge and modernize their facilities and increase their usefulness to the public."

It is very fitting that the Community Service Associates, who are dedicated to the health and welfare of the residents of the Greater Lawrence Area, meet at the Lawrence General Hospital during Hospital Week. The theme of Hospital Week is "Your Hospital Cares" with the secondary theme of "Our First Concern Is Your Health." Certainly both the hospital and the Community Service Associates devote all their efforts to the betterment of the Greater Lawrence community health care.

Nuclear generating plants produce electricity less efficiently, than fossil fuel plants; less of the energy in the steam is transformed into electricity and more of it becomes waste heat, the Massachusetts Audubon Society points out.

VA Instructs College Vets

The VA has reminded college veterans they must return their certificate of attendance cards during the last full month of every enrollment period.

The current semester will end in May or June for most college students.

VA computers are programmed to prepare the final check this spring for the 1969-70 school year after the certification of attendance card has been received.

If the card is not returned at the end of the current semester, the student cannot be automatically enrolled under the G.I. Bill next semester.

College registrars must promptly return the veterans re-enrollment certification to the VA so the veteran may start receiving his checks on schedule the next semester he is in school.

Veteran trainees attending school below college level must return their attendance certification cards every month to insure uninterrupted payment of their educational allowance checks.

The VA pointed out that failure to complete and return the certification card will automatically stop all future payments to the veteran, serviceman or dependent.

In 1968, the median Negro family income of $5,359 was 60 percent that of the white family. The greatest disparity between Negro and white family income is in the South, where the Negro median family income is only about half that of white.

Interim Appointments Made For Community Drug Program

Dr. Joseph A. Harrington, Director of Counseling and Psychological Services at Merrimack College, has been appointed Project Director of the Joint Hospital Community Drug Program. Mr. Bruce A. Maloof, M.S.W., has been appointed co-ordinator of Services to facilitate the implementation of the developmental phases of grant application preparations.

Both Dr. Harrington and Mr. Maloof are presently on the staff of the Lawrence General Hospital Rehabilitation Center and will assume these positions on a non-remunerative basis, which is in concert with the program as endorsed by the United Fund.

Dr. Harrington is a graduate of Holy Cross and Boston College. His experiences have included: Director of Field Work in Psychology and Sociology at Newton College of the Sacred Heart; acting Assistant Superintendent and Director of Professional Services at the Institute for Juvenile Guidance at Bridge-water; and Staff Psychologist at the Lawrence General Hospital Rehabilitation Center. Dr. Harrington serves as a consultant to a number of organizations and has published in several journals.

Mr. Maloof is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and the McGill University Graduate School of Social Work. In the past he has served as a social worker for the Massachusetts Division of Child Guardianship, a probation officer for the John Howard Society of Quebec, a psychiatric caseworker for the Douglas Mental Hospital of Verdun, Quebec, social worker for the Danvers State Hospital Alcohol Unit, and is presently the Chief of Social Services for the Lawrence General Hospital Rehabilitation Center, an after-care counselor for the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Branch of the National Institute of Mental Health, a field worker instructor for the Boston College Graduate School of Social Work and for the Suffolk University Undergraduate Social Service Component.

It is expected that in the immediate future an Educational Specialist will be the next appointee, and that Medical and Psychiatric personnel will then round off the full complement necessary to give that comprehensive structure so as to include all modalities of services. Those persons appointed to the Educational, Medical, or Psychiatric leadership will be interim appointments on a non-remunerative basis.

The Joint Hospital Community Drug Program will incorporate those recommendations and suggestions that will be forthcoming from the Greater Lawrence Council on Drug Abuse sponsored by the Lawrence Eagle Tribune and Chaired by Judge Joseph F. Bacigalupo.

These appointments were announced by Edward B. Hogan, Director of the Lawrence General Hospital Rehabilitation Center, which marks the first formalized step in the development of a program under the professional auspices of the Lawrence General Hospital, the Bon Secours Hospital, and the United Fund, to combat drug abuse and for the prevention of drug use.

Honor Presidents

The 20th annual meeting of the Lawrence General Hospital Aid Association will be held on Wednesday, May 20, at 12:30 p.m. in Kurth Auditorium at the hospital. At this time the 680 member organization will honor the following past presidents: Mrs. Dean K. Webster, Jr., Mrs. Walter Whitehill, Mrs. Julius Kay, Mrs. Roland H. Sherman, Mrs. Malcolm Seymour, Mrs. Richard E. Barton, Mrs. Harry Axelrod, Mrs. Abigail McCoy, and Mrs. John B. Harriman.

After luncheon Mrs. John J. McArdle, Jr., president, will preside at a brief business meeting during which election of officers will be held and the association's gift to the hospital will be announced.

Mrs. Vincent P. Morton, Jr. will introduce the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. James O'Shea, president of Reality, Inc., who will discuss "Honesty in Drug Rehabilitation."

TALKING IT OVER, PA Headmaster John Kemper and students discuss school's reaction to national issues. Kemper temporarily cancelled classes last week to provide for voluntary seminars with overflow audiences, to learn about issues, plus organization of political persuasion activities by interested members of the school community.

Students Examine Problems Delegates At Convention

Cambodia, Kent State, dissent, Black Panther trials in New Haven. National and international issues successively lit up last week, and fused together with an intensity that penetrated colleges and secondary schools everywhere -- with varying results.

The three secondary schools in Andover, Andover High, Phillips Academy and Abbot, took slightly different positions according to their different situation, but the administrations of all three local schools began by taking their students' concern over the issues seriously.

Each school departed in some way "from business as usual" to bring the issues into the school for open discussion, to learn more about different sides of the issues in an atmosphere of heightened awareness and relevance, and each school allowed members of the school community some scope to express their concerns and convictions.

Probably as a result of taking the concerns of the school community seriously, the Andover secondary schools did not suffer the mass walkouts and student alienation evident in some communities.

Indeed, there were more than a few instances where teachers and students were drawn closer than before by their mutual concern to learn what was involved, and act responsibly on it.

The ingredient present seems to be that overworked, usually elusive factor -- relevancy.

Principal Philip Wormwood and Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert began open discussions in the high schools large group room Wednesday morning over the issues, schools' relationship to the national issues, student strikes, alternative ways to meet the issues and learn about them. Students later took over leadership of the discussions, and both students and teachers were free to join this group in lieu of regular classes.

Only about 45 Andover High school students felt compelled to go outside the framework of the school to express their convictions, and Principal Wormwood has held discussions with these students since, seeking the means to meet student concerns within the school's framework.

Vice Principal Charles Adams called the high school's philosophy one of "bringing the world into the school, so students won't have to leave school to find out about the world."

For example, columnist Gordon Hall spoke to the high school last Thursday on political extremism. He had been scheduled the week before but had postponed his engagement to cover the Black Panther trial rallies in New Haven.

This week the high school is continuing its efforts to bring speakers and information on current issues to its students. Social studies teacher Philip Nelson, for example, has a lineup of speakers today, which students can hear in free periods, or teachers may bring classes into. All the programs focus on plenty of open discussion to bring out various sides of the issues.

Phillips Academy's Headmaster, John Kemper, declared a moratorium on normal school activities from Thursday at 1 p.m. through Friday's classes, and the school community engaged in standing-room only seminars and discussions during this period. A student communications headquarters was in operation all weekend long to organize various activities such as canvasses of supermarkets and factories at closing time, urging citizens to sign petitions they agreed with, or to send free postcards to their congressman, expressing their views on the Cambodian campaign or the Vietnam War.

Abbot Academy did not call off classes, but allowed Abbot students to spend free time, or cut classes on their own responsibility to make up the work, in order to attend PA's seminars or participate in issue-related work at PA and in the community.

Monday, the PA faculty passed a proposal representing a majority of student opinion that students pursuing constructive political activities be permitted some schedule alterations if this were necessary to continue them. The faculty also agreed that any student who felt compelled to strike in protest against national policy would be permitted to withdraw temporarily from the school, with parental permission. Spokesman John Fenton said Wednesday that the first proposal does have takers, but there has been minimal interest in the second, and so far no parental permission.

decide whether he will take effective action.

What comprises effective action? It's a personal thing for most. I am concerned with writing letters such as this to people and organizations who would hopefully be most concerned about the movement. Focus is on district congressmen - finding out what they're accomplishing while in office and letting them know how much support they have back home. This is especially important in light of the upcoming congressional elections next Fall.

My only prayer is that the movement can remain rational and constructively directed; this looks hopeful, because as we educate ourselves, we are therein eliminating much of the subjective, libertine quality that characterizes the youth dissent movement today.

Thanks for listening,
 Elaine Giblin
 Smith College

To the editor of the TOWNSMAN
 As a student of Connecticut College and a resident of Andover, I would like to explain the nature of the strike which began on our campus on Tuesday, May 5.

The faculty, administration, and students, by a majority vote of the community, decided to suspend classes through Sunday, May 10. This gives us the opportunity to educate ourselves and the local community about the present crises at home and abroad.

We are questioning President Nixon's policy in Southeast Asia, particularly the recent extension of the war into Cambodia and the resumed bombing of North Vietnam. In addition we cannot neglect political oppression within the United States against minority groups such as the blacks, the poor, and student "radicals."

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, MAY 14, 1970

In order to coordinate the many activities that students are participating in during our strike, we have established ten "task forces" to:

1. organize campus activities - lectures and seminars, letter writing to state and national representatives.

2. coordinate efforts with community leaders and exchange speakers with other campuses and local organizations.

3. communicate with those on military bases and at the Coast Guard Academy.

4. organize canvassing and petitioning in the community.

5. restructure Parent's Weekend (May 8-10) for learning and discussion about the national situation and our strike.

6. research the local military-industrial complex - Pfizer Chemical, Electric Boat, and the Sub Base.

7. coordinate activities with national intercollegiate groups.

8. communicate with the local press and radio and to publish a daily strike newsletter.

9. coordinate long-term political objectives such as campaigns for various political candidates.
 10. finance strike activities.

We are distressed by the over-emphasis by the news media of violent campus disruptions, and the corresponding lack of coverage of peaceful and constructive efforts by many college communities. We hope that this letter will bring attention to one of many non-violent well-organized college strikes.

Please join us in working for peace.

Dogs Ordered Restrained

Dogs owned by George Troisi, 12 Rutgers Road and Alfred Del-Trecco, 21 Rutgers Road, have been ordered restrained on recommendation of Police Chief David L. Nicoll and Dog Officer Donald Porter.

The selectmen, Monday night, approved the restraining order and continued the matter for two weeks, pending further investigation of complaints.

A hearing was held before the board at which Del-Trecco said he felt his dog did not need to be restrained, but would abide by any ruling of the board.

The selectmen felt, based on allegations made by the complainant, that further investigation was needed, and that the restraining order should remain in effect, at least until the next meeting of the board in two weeks.

Connector Appears In Doubt

The Route 93 connector to the Lawrence Industrial Park and downtown Lawrence is still in the basic stage and any definitive plans are some time away, according to Commissioner of Public Works Edward J. Ribbs.

Ribbs informed the selectmen this week that a hearing on the matter would not be pertinent at this time.

The selectmen had asked for a hearing, in order that they could put the town's position before the department. The board was opposed to a plan which would cut through considerable acreage in the West Andover industrial zone.

Ribbs also informed the selectmen that the federal bureau of roads may not permit any alteration to Route 93, thus voiding the project.

He said that a hearing at this time would not be opportune but would keep the selectmen advised of any contemplated change.

The leaves of violets can be eaten raw in salads, baked in tomatoes or fried, and the purple blossoms soaked in lemon juice produce a pink lemonade.

Service Club To Handle Observance

The Andover Service club has volunteered to undertake the responsibility for producing a Fourth of July program for the town.

John D. Lewis, president of the organization, in a letter to the selectmen, said his organization would be happy to organize the program this year.

An appropriation of $1,500 was approved at town meeting for the holiday observance.

It will be the first time in several years that the town will observe the holiday publicly.

Kindergarten Registration

Kindergarten registration will be held for children who have not registered at the Shawsheen school on Tuesday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

Parents are requested to bring the child's legal birth certificate to the registration. Any child who will be five years of age on or before January 1, 1971 is eligible to register.
